The screenshot shows the MIT App Inventor web interface. The main workspace displays a mobile app preview with a piano keyboard. A red arrow points from the 'Spinner' component in the 'User Interface' palette to the 'add items...' dropdown in the app preview. Another red arrow points from the 'ElementsFromStrings' property in the 'Properties' panel to the 'add items...' dropdown. The 'ElementsFromStrings' property is highlighted with a red box and contains the text 'ピアノ, トランペット' (Piano, Trumpet). A blue dashed arrow points from the text below to the 'ElementsFromStrings' property.
